What is Cooperative Education/ Experiential Learning/OYAP?

Cooperative Education is a Ministry of Education approved program that allows students to earn secondary school credits while completing a work placement. The 2 Course options are: Creating Opportunities through Co-op (DCO 30) or Cooperative Education to a related Course.

Goals of Cooperative Education

All students can benefit from participating in Cooperative Education. In their experiences, students will develop:

- a reflective habit of mind to derive meaning from their placements
- the ability to apply (e. g., transfer) their learning to influence decisions and actions in various aspects of their lives
- develop skills and knowledge to support present and future learning as well as education and career/life planning
- better understand health, safety, and well-being as it applies to future careers and their experiential learning placement
- reflect on their learning and make connections between their community- connected experience and other aspects of their lives.

OYAP

The Ontario Youth Apprenticeship Program (OYAP) is a School to Work program that opens the door for students to explore and work in apprenticeship occupations starting in Grade 11 or Grade 12 through the Cooperative Education program. Students have an opportunity to become registered apprentices and work towards becoming certified journeypersons in a skilled trade while completing the requirements for their Ontario Secondary School Diploma (OSSD).

To be an OYAP student and be accepted into the program: must be at least 15 years of age, completed 14 credits and has signed up for Cooperative Education.

For both courses, students can count two co-op credits as compulsory credits towards their Ontario Secondary School Diploma (OSSD).

Classroom Component / Integration/Community Component

Preparing for the Opportunity

Student learning in the classroom component of Cooperative Education is based on course expectations. The purpose of the classroom component is to ensure that students:

- prepare for their community experience, demonstrating the skills and knowledge required before the start of their placement component
- focus on integrating their learning throughout the course with reflection on their experiences
- complete classroom components/topics before they start their placement
- some of the topics include: health and safety and well-being, preparing and planning for the experience, skills needed for the future, develop their own SCEL (Learning Plan), explore and investigate future trends, decision making strategies that relate to their co-op experience, effective communication with placement and teacher
- All students must complete a Pre-Course Orientation prior to commencing their work placement.
- In order to earn both credits, students must attend in- school classes, participate in activities, and submit assignments by the specified due dates.

Integrating learning is an essential process that helps students make connections between their learning in the classroom component and their learning in the community component. Through the use of the Experiential Learning Cycle, students integrate their learning through participation in planned learning activities that enable them to reflect workplace.

Integration Component

- Integration sessions are held once a month throughout the semester.
- During the integration sessions, students relate their placement experience to both the curriculum expectations of the related course and to the expectations of the cooperative education course.
- A variety of assignments designed to help students reflect on their work-placement experiences and reinforce job skills theory are completed and submitted for evaluation.

*In order to earn both credits, students must attend in- school classes, participate in activities, submit assignments and journals by the specified due dates.

Community Component

- The community component of a Cooperative Education course engages the student in learning opportunities in the experience or “placement”, where the placement supervisor, collaborating with the Cooperative Education teacher and, as required, the special education teacher, supports students in achieving the curriculum expectations.
- Students spend two and half hours at the work placement each day. It is the responsibility of each student to find suitable and reliable transportation that will ensure their timely arrival at the work placement and/or school.
- While completing this component, students will be evaluated by both the placement supervisor and the monitoring teacher.
- Evaluation is based on performance at the work placement where job skills as well as the ability to demonstrate practical application of concepts taught in the related curriculum course will be assessed.
- Students are required to complete weekly journals which indicate tasks performed each day as well as hours completed.
- In cases where students plan to be absent from the work placement, they are to notify the placement supervisor and the cooperative education teacher as soon as possible.
- It is the responsibility of each student to complete 190 hours by the end of the semester. Failure to meet this requirement will result in the loss of a credit.

PLACEMENT PROCEDURE

- Requesting Cooperative Education on your course selection form does not guarantee acceptance into the program.
- An interview in the cooperative education office will be scheduled for you through your homeroom or Co-op Department.
- A second interview at a potential placement will be scheduled following the interview in the cooperative education office.
- Prepare for the interview by reviewing this package.

- Send a letter to the interviewer thanking them for the interview.

As part of this orientation you must complete:

THE COVER LETTER

A cover letter is a formal letter that accompanies your resume. Use your Cover letter to introduce yourself, and to convince a potential employer that you are the right person for the job.

What should I Include in my Cover Letter?

Introduce yourself, identify the position that you are applying for, and explain how you learned about the position.

Explain why you are qualified for the position, and why you would be a great fit for the job.

Close your Cover Letter by thanking the employer for their consideration and request an interview to further discuss your qualifications.

Useful Cover Letter Tips

- Keep it brief – one page maximum
- Tailor the letter to match the requirements of the position
- For example, “You mention that you are looking for people with Microsoft Office skills. Over the past summer I have worked extensively with MS PowerPoint, MS Word and MS Excel to draft professional documents.”
- Stress how you will add to the organization
- Be specific
- Focus on three qualities that distinguish who you are (e.g., hard worker, willing to learn, organized)
- Project confidence and be positive
- If possible, personalize your letter to the hiring manager and ensure correct spelling of their name
- Check for spelling or grammatical errors
- Show your personality, curiosity, and interest in the field of work rather than repeating your resume word for word
- Research and learn about the company or organization you are applying to. If your cover letter is tailored to the company and job, you’ll show the employer that you can be a good fit.

WHAT IS A RESUME?

- A self-marketing tool where you highlight your qualities, skills, and experiences with the goal of obtaining an interview
- A work in progress – you should continually update your resume as you finish school, change jobs, receive awards, etc.

WHAT SHOULD I INCLUDE IN MY RESUME?

1. Contact Information
2. Personal Profile
3. Objective Statement
4. Skills and Abilities, you've developed
5. Your Education
6. Work Experience (including Co-op experience)
7. Extra-Curricular Activities
8. Volunteer Experiences
9. Achievements
10. Certifications you've earned
11. Hobbies and Interests
12. References

What if I do not have specific work experience or little work experience?

You can use extra-curricular accomplishments and skills to land a job in a related area of interest. Maximize your experience, include volunteer work and show your range of skills and abilities. Try to incorporate words or phrases from the job listing into your resume as this is a great way to catch your prospective employer's attention. Employers realize that students/interns do not have a lot of working experience, so it is okay to include past volunteer experience or projects you have completed.

What if I have some work and volunteer experience? List any work experience you've completed (e.g., formal work experience programs at school). Start with the most recent experience and work back from there. Tell your story to "sell" yourself and your skills to a potential employer.

Top Resume Tips for Students

1. Think ahead - Avoid waiting until the last minute to hand in your resume. You could miss the deadline or risk not being considered for the job! In fact, some employers have been known to close applications even before the deadline because they have already found a suitable candidate.
2. Tailor your Resume – Make sure to include information in your resume that is relevant to the job you are applying for. Try to eliminate skills that you have little familiarity with. Be prepared to answer questions about the skills you put on your resume in the interview.
3. Chunk it out – Use headings to separate information and make it more visually appealing.
4. Use action words to describe your skills on your resume – Focus on your accomplishments and describing how you were successful.

BE SURE TO...

1. Proofread – Have multiple people review your resume to avoid mistakes. It will look extremely unprofessional if a resume contains spelling or grammatical errors.
2. Make it presentable – Your resume should be clean and organized. Choose a font that is easy to read such as Arial or Times New Roman and use font size 12.
3. Keep it concise – Keep your resume as short as possible, 1-2 pages at the most.
4. Be honest – Never lie on your resume. If your employer finds out that you were dishonest, you could lose your job. You should be prepared to talk about any skills or experiences you put on your resume. You can be questioned by an employer about any information you put on your resume.
5. Be professional - Your resume is a business document, so make sure that you use professional language and design.
